

December 19th, 1754.

South-

[NUMB. 1069.]

RESOLVED, That a most loyal address be made to his majesty to express our sincere attachment to his royal person and illustrious house, and humbly to represent our deep concern, that the supplies necessary for the defence of this colony against the invasions and incroachments of the French, should be interrupted by a dispute with the council, occasioned by their refusing to pass a bill, intitled, an act for raising the sum of 20,000 l. for the protection of his majesty's subjects in this colony, against the insults and incroachments of the French, and for other purposes therein mentioned; on account of a clause inserted in it by this house, for paying Peyton Randolph, Esq; 2,500 l. as agent for soliciting the affairs of this colony in Great Britain; and in the most dutiful manner to lay before him our reasons for inserting the said clause.

THE impending danger from the violent designs of the French, their threats and depredations, were the only motives of calling you together at this time. And as the lives, liberties and properties of your constituents are in such imminent hazard, I did not in the least doubt, but that you would, before this, have strengthened my hands with a proper supply, to frustrate their malicious intentions: And especially, when I receiv'd from you such strong and repeated assurances, that you were determin'd, on your parts, to withstand the impending danger, and to perform every measure in your power, to defeat those pernicious attempts of your enemies. I thought I might readily admit the pleasing hopes, that you would effectually provide for your country's preservation, and convince the world, that you had nothing more at heart, than a zealous discharge of your duty to the best of kings, and the sincerest regard for your country's welfare.

How great then, Gentlemen, must be my surprise, and with what amazement must that country and the world see such high expectations cast down so low ! See you called upon in the day of your country's distress ; hear you declaring your knowledge of her danger, and professing the most ardent zeal for her service ; yet find these declarations only an unavailing flourish of words ; and that, inconsistent with them, and the purposes of your meeting, you withhold your aid, and thereby leave the enemy at full liberty to perpetrate their destructive and unjust designs.

The independent companies, ordered by his majesty, clothed and paid by him, and now employed in your immediate defence, you absolutely, by your resolve to me, deny subsistence to: A thing unprecedented in any of his majesty's dominions, where they have been employed in their defence, from incursions or threatened invasions.

I have my master's service, and the safety and honour of Virginia, so much and so truly at heart, that I cannot but be deeply affected at a conduct so contrary to her interest: and not altogether unconcerned for you, Gentlemen of the house of Burgesses, that you should appear in so bad a light to his majesty, and give such ill impressions to the neighbouring colonies.

However, as I find you are determined not to do, what your duty to his majesty, and the present obvious danger, indispensably require; I think it proper, to avoid aggravating unnecessary expenses, particularly inconvenient at this time; and therefore, to put an end to your longer continuance here, I do prorogue you to the 17th day of October; and you are accordingly prorogued to that time.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

At a Visitation of the FREE-SCHOOL in Charles Town, December 11th, 1734, as many of the School-Committee as attended, ordered the following Advertisement to be published in the next Gazette - viz.
